2.1 Accounting basis of the consolidated financial statements (continued)

The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared on a historical cost basis, except for investments available for sale that are at fair value through equity and other securities held by a subsidiary, which are recognized at fair value through profit or loss (note 6) and some lands and buildings (note 12) that are at market value.

These consolidated financial statements have been prepared following the conceptual framework of the Superintendence of Banks. Subsidiaries include insurance companies, administrators of pension plans and funds and administrator of health plans, which financial information have been prepared in accordance with the accounting practices established by the Superintendence of Insurance, the Superintendence of Pensions and the Superintendence of Health and Labor Risks, respectively. Furthermore, non-regulated subsidiaries apply accounting practices according to IFRS. The financial figures of these subsidiaries that are incorporated in the consolidated financial statements have been prepared following those accounting bases (note 2.3).

The consolidated financial statements and their explanatory notes have been prepared in thousands of Dominican pesos (RD$).

2.1.a Differences between banking regulations and IFRS

The accounting practices set forth by the Superintendence of Banks differs from IFRS in certain aspects. A summary of the most relevant differences are as follows:

i) The allowance for the loan portfolio corresponds to the amount determined based on a risk assessment carried out by the Bank and the levels of provisions required for the classification assigned to each loan. The evaluation for the major commercial debtors through the payment capacity, includes the documentation of the credit files considering the financial information of the borrower's financial statements, as well as the opinion of the auditor, quality of the administrative management and corporate structure, economic environment, evaluation of financial reasons, payment record and collateral levels; for medium commercial debtors, it includes a simplified assessment based on operating losses and adjusted equity, payment record and collateral levels and for other debtors (consumption, mortgages and minor debtors based on days of delay). The collaterals are only considered for the determination of the allowance according to the guidelines established in the Asset Evaluation Regulation (REA, per its Spanish acronyms). In addition, the allowances include additional and/or anti-cyclical reserves determined according to an internal methodology.

In accordance with IFRS, specifically IFRS 9 Financial Instruments, an entity must recognize impairment of the loan portfolio for expected credit losses during their life time (evaluated on a collective or individual basis), considering all reasonable and sustainable information, including those which refers to the future. IFRS 9 establishes a three-phase approach for the recognition of an impairment allowance, which is based on the change in the credit quality of financial assets since their initial recognition.

- ii) Banking regulations require financial institutions to establish an allowance for assets received in lieu of foreclosure of loans, according to the following criteria: moveable goods are reserved over a two year period, on a straight-line basis, starting six months following the foreclosure; real estate is reserved over a three year period, on a straight-line basis counted as of the first anniversary of its recognition on the Bank's accounting books and debt securities follow the same basis of allowance for investments. Both criteria counting from 120 days after the date of the foreclosure of the property or of the payment contract duly legalized. IFRS require that these assets are reserved only in the event of impairment.
- iii) Interests receivable past due for less than 90 days, are reserved according to the classification granted to the corresponding principal. Past due interests' receivable with more than 90 days are fully reserved, except for credit card transactions, which are fully reserved after 60 days past due. Subsequently, accrued interests are not recognized in the consolidated financial statements and are recognized in memorandum accounts. In accordance with IFRS, the same criteria apply as for the allowance for credit portfolio, considering that the receivables continue to be accrued based on their book value, net of impairment.
- iv) Financial entities translate all foreign currency balances at the official exchange rate as established by the Central Bank of the Dominican Republic at the reporting date. IFRS require that all foreign currency balances be translated at the exchange rate at which the Bank had access at the reporting date.
- v) The Superintendence of Banks requires that allowance held on loans portfolio at the time of executing their collateral, be transferred to assets received in lieu of foreclosure of loan settlements. IFRS only require reserves when the fair value of the asset is lower than its carrying value or when impairment exists.

- vi) According to banking practices, other operating income, such as credit card renewal fees, letters of credit and acceptances outstanding are recognized immediately. In accordance with IFRS, income must be recognized when an entity transfers control of a good or service over time and, therefore, satisfies a performance obligation. The income is recognized by the price of the transaction that is assigned to that performance obligation.
- vii) The Superintendence of Banks requires leasehold improvements and computer software to be authorized by the Superintendence of Banks before recognize it as property, furniture and equipment and intangible assets, respectively, and classify them as other assets until such approval is obtained. The Superintendence of Banks indicates the amount that could be capitalized and the maximum amortization period during which the deferral is allowed. IFRS require that these items be recognized as property, furniture and equipment and intangible assets as long as they generate future economic benefits.
- viii) The Bank determine the useful life of property, furniture and equipment at the time of acquisition, and recognizes in memorandum accounts those fixed assets that are fully depreciated. IFRS require that the residual value and the useful life of an asset be reviewed at least at each financial year-end, and if expectations differ from previous estimates, the changes are accounted for as a change in accounting estimates.
- ix) The Superintendence of Banks has established that short-term highly liquid investments that are easily convertible to cash be classified as investments. IFRS require that this type of investments with original maturities of three months or less be classified as cash equivalent.
- x) The Superintendence of Banks requires that financial institutions classify investments into four categories, which are: trading, available-for-sale, held-to-maturity, and other investments in debt securities. Also, the Superintendence allows classifying in one of the first three categories only those investments listed in an active market. Investments held for trading and available-for-sale should be measured at fair value, and investments held to maturity and other investments in debt securities at amortized cost. IFRS do not prescribe the category of other investments in debt securities. IFRS 9 establishes three categories of debt instruments: amortized cost, fair value with changes in other comprehensive income (equity) and fair value through profit or loss and, consequently, must be reported at cost or fair value depending on the classification granted. This classification depends on the business model for the management of financial assets and the characteristics of contractual cash flows.

- 2.1.a Differences between banking regulations and IFRS (continued)
 - xi) The investment portfolio is quantified according to the risk categories determined by the Superintendence of Banks that requires specific provisions, following the instructions in the Assets Evaluation Regulations (REA, per its Spanish acronyms). IFRS require that impairment for investments recognized at amortized cost be determined following the same considerations indicated for loan portfolio as described in i) above.
 - xii) The Superintendence of Banks requires that cash flows from loans portfolio and customers' deposits, be classified as investing and financing activities, respectively. IFRS require that cash flows from these transactions be recognized as part of operating activities.
 - xiii) The Superintendence of Banks allowed to multiple service banks the revaluation of its properties as of December 31, 2004 and has not required updating these values after that date. IFRS state that these updates must be performed whenever such assets have significant value changes.
 - xiv) The Superintendence of Banks requires banks to recognize a provision for contingent operations, which includes, among others, granted collateral, non-negotiable letters of credit issued, and unused amounts of lines of credit of automatic use, based on a classification of risk category following the REA. IFRS require the recognition of estimated expected losses on loan commitments in a consistent manner, with their expectations of provisions of that loan commitment.
 - xv) In accordance with current banking regulations, the Bank must quantitatively disclose the risks derived from its financial instruments, such as liquidity and interest rate risks and the credit risk of loans portfolio, among others. IFRS require the following disclosures that allows users of the financial statements to evaluate: a) the importance of the financial instruments in relation to the financial position and performance of the Bank and b) the nature and scope of risks resulting from the financial instruments to which the Bank is exposed during the period and at the reporting date and how the Bank manages those risks.
 - xvi) The Superintendence of Banks authorizes financial intermediation institutions to write-off a loan with or without collateral when it becomes past due and is 100 % provisioned, excluding related-party loans that should be written off when all legal collection processes have been exhausted and the involved officers and/or directors have been removed from their duties. In accordance with IFRS, an entity will directly reduce the carrying amount of a financial asset when it has no reasonable expectation of recovering all or a part of this.

- 2.1.a Differences between banking regulations and IFRS (continued)
 - xvii) IFRS require that, if the Bank maintains other comprehensive income, a statement of other comprehensive income or a separate statement of other comprehensive income must be presented showing the nature and amount of items comprising other comprehensive income during the reporting period. The Superintendence of Banks does not include this requirement in the presentation of financial statements.
 - xviii) The Superintendence of Banks authorized the inclusion in the consolidated financial statements, the financial statements of subsidiaries that were prepared following different accounting practices to those set in the Accounting Manual for Financial Institutions, without being adjusted with the accounting practices followed by the Bank. Under IFRS, entities included in the consolidation should follow the same accounting policies.
 - xix) Current banking regulations require financial intermediaries to recognize as expenses, payments arising from operating leases, to the extent that they are accrued. As of January 1st, 2019, IFRS require operating leases to be recognized in the accounting books of lessee as follows:
 - a) At inception of lease, the lessee must recognize an asset for the right-of-use asset under the lease, and a financial liability for the obligation contracted in the lease.
 - b) Subsequent to initial recognition, the asset is depreciated on a straight-line basis over the term of the lease and the liability changes to reflect lease payments and interest generated.
 - c) In the statement of profit or loss, the expenses originated by the lease contract comprise the amortization expense of the underlying asset and the interest expense generated by the financial liability incurred.
 - xx) IFRS requires the Bank to capitalize borrowing costs that are directly attributable to the construction of a qualifying asset, as part of the cost of that asset. Current rules of the Superintendence of Banks do not allow this practice.

- 2.1.a Differences between banking regulations and IFRS (continued)
 - xxi) The Superintendence of Banks establishes that the operations of future purchase and sale of foreign currencies are recognized in as assets or liabilities by the difference between the exchange rate in force and the agreed exchange rate. Also, the notional value agreed is recognized in memorandum accounts, and foreign exchange values sold at the end of the year are disclosed as foreign currency balances in note 3 to the financial statements, for the purposes of determining the net foreign currency position. IFRS require the recognition of derivatives included in this type of contracts in asset and liability at fair value.
 - xxii) There are differences between the presentation and certain disclosures for the financial statements according to IFRS and those required or authorized by the Superintendence of Bank.
- 2.1.b Differences between the accounting practices issued and allowed by the Superintendence of Insurance and the Superintendence of Health and Labor Risk (SISALRIL, per its Spanish acronyms) and the Superintendence of Pensions of the Dominican Republic (SIPEN, per its Spanish acronyms) and IFRS
 - i) As established by the Superintendence of Insurance, short-term insurance contracts are recognized as revenue when billed; as a result, unearned premium reserves are computed based on specific percentages according to the line of business. These minimum percentages are established in article 141 of the Insurance and Insurance Bonds Law No. 146-02, are as follows:
 - 15 % Transportation and freight.
 - 5 % Collective life insurance, accidents and health, provided premiums are collected on a monthly basis.
 - 40 % Insurance bonds.
 - 40 % Other insurances.

In accordance with IFRS, income from insurance contracts, both general and short-term life insurance, are recognized proportionately over the term of the policy. The proportion of the mandatory premium to underwrite the policy and the portion where the risk has not expired must be recognized as deferred income.

In the case of long-term life insurance contracts with a guaranteed minimum term, the premium income is recognized when payment is received from the insured party.

- 2.1.b Differences between the accounting practices issued and allowed by the Superintendence of Insurance and the Superintendence of Health and Labor Risk (SISALRIL, per its Spanish acronyms) and the Superintendence of Pensions of the Dominican Republic (SIPEN, per its Spanish acronyms) and IFRS (continued)

In the case of long-term life insurance contracts without a fixed guaranteed term, such as death or survivorship insurance, premiums are recognized as deferred income, which increases by the interest or changes in unit prices and lowers by management fee policy, fees, mortality and any other withdrawals.

- ii) In accordance with IFRS, based on its intention of use, investments are classified into three categories: financial assets at fair value with changes through profit and loss, held-to-maturity financial assets, loans and receivables, and available-for-sale financial assets. Under IFRS, these investments are recognized initially at fair value and subsequent to their initial recognition measured at amortized cost, at fair value with changes in profit or loss or at fair value with changes in equity, depending on its initial classification. The accounting practices followed by the Bank initially recognizes investments at fair value and subsequently measured it at amortized cost.
- iii) The Superintendence of Insurance establishes that insurance premiums receivable that are considered uncollectible by the Bank, are reversed against income. In accordance with IFRS, premiums receivable should be assessed regularly, and a provision should be created for amounts deemed uncollectible. This provision should be recognized through a charge to operating expenses of the year.
- iv) The Superintendence of Insurance does not require the recognition of specific reserves for claims incurred but not reported at the reporting date. IFRS require to create a provision for those probable and quantifiable losses and that these be recognized through a charge to operations of the year in which the damage occurred.
- v) According to accounting practices of the Superintendence of Insurance, the Bank recognizes salvage and recoveries in memorandum accounts, and these should not be recognized in accounting records until their disposal. IFRS sets out that at the reporting date of the consolidated financial statements, such assets shall be measured at fair value less any cost of sale and recognized as other assets against a deduction of the cost of the claims, that gave rise to the salvages, in the accounting period in which the Bank obtained the rights over the salvages and recoveries.

 - vi) In accordance with accounting practices of the Superintendence of Insurance, savings components included in life insurance contracts are not accounted separately. As per IFRS, when an insurance policy has a saving component this saving component should be separated from the premium paid in a life insurance policy and recognize it as a separate financial liability.
 - vii) According to accounting practices established and permitted by the Superintendence of Insurance, the service components that form part of the insurance contract are not separated and are recorded as revenue in conjunction with the premium income subscribed. Under IFRS, the components of services over which the insurance company subsidiary does not withhold insurance risks, should be separated from the insurance contract. Such components must be recognized as a liability, and defer any commission earned by the insurance company subsidiary in the service intermediation as income during the term of the policy that originated such commission.
 - viii) Additional costs incurred in the process of acquisition and issuance of insurance contracts are recognized as expenses when they occur, except commissions to agents, which are deferred and amortized in proportion to the premium that originated it following the percentages established by the Superintendence of Insurance. In accordance with IFRS, these costs must be deferred and recognized as expense using the straight-line method over the life of the related insurance contracts.
 - According to the accounting practices established and permitted by the Superintendence of Insurance, property, furniture and equipment are recognized as such, regardless of their use. IFRS require that property, plant and equipment, which intention of use is to obtain income or goodwill, shall be considered investment property and therefore, their recognition and disclosure are different from the other assets being used in the operations of the Bank.
 - x) IFRS require to perform a liability adequacy test. This test is basically a calculation based on a statistical methodology that determines if provisions recognized by the Bank are enough to cover possible commitments arising from current insurance contracts. The accounting practices of the Superintendence of Insurance do not require this kind of provision.

 - xi) The Superintendence of Insurance and the Superintendence of Health and Labor Risk require that short-term investments, highly liquid investments and investments easily convertible to cash to be classified as investments. However, IFRS require such investments to be classified as cash equivalents.
 - xii) IFRS require that, if an entity maintains derivate financial instruments, to separate embedded derivative from the host contract and accounted for as a derivative if economic characteristic and risks of the embedded derivative are not closely related to the economic characteristic and risks of the host contract. Accounting practices established by the Superintendence of Insurance and the SISALRIL do not provide for guidance on accounting of derivatives financial instruments.
 - xiii) The Superintendence of Insurance and the Superintendence of Health and Labor Risk allow that significant revenues and expenses that affect the consolidated financial statements of previous years, be recognized in retained earnings without restating the previous reported amounts of the consolidated financial statements. IFRS require these transactions to be recognized retroactively, correcting previously reported financial statements, including the presentation of the statements of financial position for the most recent three years.
 - xiv) SIPEN requires that investments in commercial papers and certificates of deposits be classified as investments, regardless of their maturity. IFRS require that investments in these types of instruments to be classified as cash equivalents, when they are highly liquid instruments and their maturity is 90 days or less.
 - xv) SIPEN requires that the administrators recognize their balances in foreign currency at the average cash purchase rate of commercial banks, published by the Central Bank of the Dominican Republic. IFRS require that the balances in foreign currency be converted to the last access rate that the Administrator had.
 - xvi) SIPEN requires the Administrator to disclose its investments in securities by sector and by type of instrument. IFRS require additional disclosures that allow users of the consolidated financial statements to evaluate a) the importance of financial instruments in relation to the consolidated financial position and consolidated statements of the Bank and b) the nature and extent of the risks resulting from the financial instruments to which the Bank is exposed during the year and the reporting date and how the Bank handles those risks.

The SIPEN does not have standards in place for the recognition and presentation of derivative financial instruments.
 - xviii) SIPEN requires administrators to classify investments by type of issuers (public sector, financial institutions, companies and others) and that they are recognize at their cost-plus accrued interest; those acquired with premiums and discounts are recognized at amortized cost. IFRS 9 establishes three categories of debt instruments: amortized cost, fair value with changes through other comprehensive income (equity) and fair value with changes through profit or loss, and, consequently, they must be reported at cost or at fair value depending on the classification granted. This classification depends on the business model for managing financial assets and the characteristics of the contractual cash flows.
 - xix) There are differences between the presentation and certain disclosures in the financial statements under IFRS to those required by the Superintendence of Insurance, the SISALRIL and SIPEN.

The Bank has not quantified the effects of these differences on the consolidated financial statements between accounting basis and IFRS.

2.2 Use of estimates

The preparation of the consolidated financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the consolidated financial statements and the reported amounts of income and expenses during the period.

The estimates are used primarily to account for allowance for risky assets, accounts and premium receivable, depreciation and amortization of long-term assets, impairment of long-term assets, current and deferred income tax, technical reserves for insurance and contingencies. Actual results may differ from those estimates.

The Bank assigns the risk classification to the restructured loans considering what was in force at the time of restructuring the debt or that arising from the days of default of the loan at the time of restructuring, or the worst of both, according to the REA.

The risk classification of the restructured loan will be the classification assigned to all the debtor's credits within the same type of portfolio. An initial classification of no lower than "B" is assigned, which may be modified to a lower risk category, depending on the evolution of its payments up to the "A" classification, as long as it meets the conditions agreed in the contract. For major commercial debtors, additional to their payment capacity, payment behavior and country risk are evaluated, for any improvement in their risk classification. Furthermore, the Bank applies the arrears method to over 90 days past due loans, considering the total amount of principal past due when one installment payment has fallen into arrears.

The Bank suspends the accrual of interest on loans when past due for more than 90 days and 60 days for credit cards (see note 2.5.2).

During 2020, in order to lighten the financial burden of the debtors, and due to COVID-19 pandemic, the Bank implemented a relaxation program that granted a three-month grace period for the payment of installments for those loans with less than 30 days due date. This plan included the review of interest rates, charges, commissions and insurance.

Additionally, other measures of the relaxation plan include an extensive loan restructuring process with multiple clients which contains modifications in terms of payments, modifications in loan agreements, renegotiations of interest rates and delinquencies, exemptions in the payment of commissions, approval of personal loans for credit cards cancellation, grace period for the payment of interest for credit lines, grace period for the payments of loans to maturity and an acceptance document was made with these modified conditions with the customers, without deterioration of credit, operational and market risks that could resulted from the application of these measures.

2.5 Determination of provisions to cover credit risks on loan losses in the loan portfolio, other assets and contingent operations

2.5.1 Allowance for loans portfolio

2.5 Determination of provisions to cover credit risks on loan losses in the loan portfolio, other assets and contingent operations (continued)

2.5.1 Allowance for loans portfolio (continued)

According to such regulation, the estimation of loan loss on the loan portfolio depends on the type of loan, which can be classified as: major commercial debtors, microcredits, consumer and mortgage loans.

The estimation of the allowance for loan losses for major commercial debtors is based on a detailed quarterly review of each debtor's solvency, payment behavior and country risk performed by the Bank for 100 % of its major commercial debtors (subject to review by the Superintendence of Banks), using specific percentages based on debtor classification, except for loans to the Dominican Republic Central Government and other public institutions that, according to the provisions of the REA, will be classified as "A" and will not be subject to allowance requirements.

The major commercial debtors are classified quarterly considering a categorized analysis of each debtor based on their payment capacity, as established in the Asset Evaluation Regulation and evaluating other factors such as: liquidity indexes, profitability, leverage, analysis of market, historical payment behavior, country risk and alignment.

The guarantees, as a factor of security in the recovery of credit operations, are considered as a secondary element and are not taken into consideration in the classification of the debtor, although they do count in the calculation of the coverage of the provisions.

Major commercial debtors are those whose total credit operations owed in the financial system are equal to or greater than RD$40,000, both at the individual and consolidated levels in the system.

The Assets Evaluation Regulation provides for the constitution of a 100 % allowance for the effect of fluctuation of the positive exchange rate on foreign currency debtor loans classified as D1, D2 and E, and with more than 90 days of delay.

For the recognition of provisions on medium-sized commercial debtors, a simplified evaluation is required considering operational losses and relation to adjusted assets, as well as payment history and guarantee levels. It is understood by adjusted equity, which for its determination considers the amounts of paid-in capital, reserves and retained earnings, premium on shares, contributions for future capitalizations and subordinated debt. Contributions for future capitalization will be considered as long as they are authorized in writing by the contributors for these purposes; recognizing in addition the condition that the funds contributed are not subject to refund.

Medium-sized commercial debtors are those whose total credit operations owed to the financial system are equal to or greater than RD$25,000 and less than RD$40,000 both individually and consolidated in the financial system.

For the minor credits of commercial, microcredits, consumer and mortgage loans, the classification is determined based on the delinquency at the date of the classification of each one of the debtor's commercial operations, assigning an unique classification on its payment behavior, except for mortgage loans granted with resources freed from the legal reserve, and classified in risk category "A", with 0 (zero) constitution of allowance; weighting 0 % for purposes of the calculation of the solvency index in accordance with article 9 of the ninth resolution of the Monetary Board, dated May 30, 2019.

Collaterals are considered in the computation of the coverage of the necessary allowance.

For direct financing granted to the Dominican State or indirect funds that are guaranteed by this or with funds for the repayment of the debt coming from real flows recorded in the General State Budget Law, they will be classified "A" for payment capacity and will not be subject to allowance requirements.

Write-offs of loans consist of operations by which the uncollectible loans are removed from the balance sheet and are recognized only in memorandum accounts. When the financial institution does not have the total loan allowance, it should establish the amount before performing the write-off, in order to not affect the level of allowance required for other loans.

A loan may be written off, with or without a collateral, from the day in which the loan enters in a non-performing loan category, excluding related party loans with collaterals that can only be written-off when the Bank can prove that the legal procedures for recovery have been exhausted and the officers or managers directly related have been released from their duties. Loans written-off remain in memorandum accounts until are not exceeded through payment by the debtor.

Relaxation measures (applicable for 2020)

Through the Second Resolution of the Monetary Board dated March 17, 2020 (modified by the Second Resolution of March 24 of the same year), measures were adopted to make the regulatory framework more flexible, with the aim of mitigating the impact of the effects caused by COVID-19 pandemic in the economy of the Dominican Republic and provide resources to financial intermediation entities so that they can maintain a proper flow of credits to the different sectors of the economy, preserving productive sectors and employment. In this regard, as established in Circular No. 014/20 of the Superintendence of Banks, dated June 17, 2020, financial intermediation entities should maintain frozen the allowance for loans determined with the reported risk classification of the loan as of March 31, 2021, according to numeral 1, literal b, of the Second Resolution of the Monetary Board of March 17, 2020.

For 2020, the amount determined as a frozen loan allowance (anchored) corresponds to the total loans allowance reported in the central risk report filed in March 2020. These loan allowance will be maintained without reversing due to the reduction of exposure to credit risk of those loans that are settled, paid or repaid on a regular basis, not having to reallocate the excess allowance to another loan or reclassify to another assets. These allowances will remain in effect until March 31, 2021.

As established in Circular No. 004/20 of the Superintendence of Banks dated March 25, 2020, restructured loans must maintain the same risk classification and provision at the time of restructuring. This allowance remained in effect until March 31, 2021.

The Monetary Board, in its Second Resolution dated March 17, 2020, established that the credits granted through resources released from legal reserve have a transitory regulatory treatment of risk classification category "A", with an allowance requirement of 0 % and weighting at 0 % in the calculation of the solvency ratio.

On April 16, 2020, this regulatory body issued its Third Resolution, which released legal reserve resources for financial intermediation entities to grant loans to MIPYMES and personal loans of up to 50 minimum salaries. The credits granted with these resources have the aforementioned special regulatory treatment until March 31, 2024.

On May 6, 2020, the Monetary Board, through its First Resolution, enabled the liquidity window through repo with financial intermediation entities to grant loans for construction, manufacturing, agriculture, tourism and export sectors. The credits granted with these resources have a special regulatory treatment until May 31, 2021, with a risk classification of "A", with a requirement of 0 % allowance and 0 % weighting in the solvency ratio calculation.

Likewise, the Monetary Board, through its Fourth and Second Resolution dated July 22 and October 8, 2020, respectively, created Rapid Liquidity Facility (FLR) window to grant financing to entities in productive sectors, households and MIPYMES through financial intermediation entities, in order to meet credit demands of these sectors and households in the locations that have been most affected by COVID-19 pandemic, such as hotels, bars, restaurants, construction, among others. Loans granted with these resources have the aforementioned special regulatory treatment, until July 31, 2021.

The Bank has established the minimum allowance required by the REA and, furthermore, recognized anti-cyclical allowances based on an internal methodology, which considers management of debtors credit risk, as well as the effects of COVID-19 according to the requirements of Circular 026/20 of October 9, 2020. These additional or anti-cyclical allowance were established in compliance with regulations of the Superintendence of Banks through its Circulars No. 030/20 and 001/21, and other related documents, which establish transitory guidelines for the recognition of anti-cyclical allowance.

The relaxation measures adopted by the Bank for the determination and recognition of anticyclical allowance, in accordance with provisions of Circular SB: 026/20, include: segmentation of loan portfolio, behavior analysis of retail portfolio since the beginning of COVID-19 pandemic, and definition of risk profiles, while for largest and medium-sized commercial debtors an alternative and complementary mechanism was implemented, defined by a scoring system based on factors and variables which allow explaining and classifying customers according to their risk profile, segregating of loan portfolio based on expected behavior as a result of the pandemic, as well as a continuous monitoring process of debtors, which were benefited with these relaxation measures, where traditional management for loans classified as COVID-A is continued, while specific follow-up actions were defined for the rest of the loan portfolio and frequency based on each debtor profile; a scoring system was established, which puts emphasize on elements that identify sources of risk in the current context through external and internal factors that affect the debtor.

New measures (applicable for 2021)

The Superintendence of Banks of the Dominican Republic, in its Circular No. 007/21 dated June 1st, 2021, established amendments to the Accounting Manual for Financial Institutions, related to anti-cyclical and additional allowances, enabling accounting accounts to recognize its. The circular states that financial institutions may use additional allowances for the computation of the secondary capital with the prior authorization of the aforementioned regulatory agency, and up to 1 % of risk-weighted assets and contingencies. According to Circular No. 006/21, dated March 31, 2021, financial intermediation entities that avail themselves of the new special regulatory treatment will not be able to use the additional allowances for the computation of secondary capital.

The Monetary Board, in its Second Resolution of March 18, 2021, established a special regulatory treatment for financial intermediation entities to constitute on a monthly basis, gradually, in a maximum period of 33 (thirty-three) months, starting on April 30, 2021 and until December 31, 2023, at a rate of at least 1/33 (one thirty-third) monthly, the allowances not constituted by previous regulatory provisions, corresponding to loans and interest receivable; as well as those new allowances that must be established during the term of the gradual process, due to the granting of new credits, the impairment of pre-existing loans or the loss of value of admissible guarantees. The anti-cyclical allowances constituted by the entities during the gradual period, due to the identification of potential risks in their loans due to variations in the economic cycle, will be used exclusively to absorb losses for the specific debtor loans that generated these allowances or others, which can require coverage in the event of shortages of allowances. The Superintendence of Banks, through Circular No. 006/21, dated March 31, 2021, established the operating guidelines for this gradual regulatory treatment. During 2021, the Bank chosed this gradual treatment; however, it has not used this treatment because it maintains an excess of the minimum required allowances, in accordance with the REA, during this period.

Collateral

The collaterals that support credit operations are classified according to the REA, based on their multiple uses and facilities. Each type of collateral is considered as a secondary element for the calculation of the coverage of the provisions, based on an established admissible amount. The admissible collaterals will be accepted based on the percentages of discount established in this regulation and on their market value.

These are classified in:

Multi-use collateral (multipurpose collateral)

Multipurpose collaterals are considered to be not specific to an activity, but can be multipurpose, realizable, valuable, easy to execute, transferable without excessive costs and stable in value. These collaterals are considered between 50 % and 100 % of their appraised value for purposes of covering the risks they support, depending on the guarantee.

Specific use collateral (non-multipurpose collateral)

They are the collaterals backed by goods that, due to their difficult realization, generally cannot be used for different activities. These collaterals will only apply between 50 % and 60 % of the appraisal value for purposes of calculating the coverage of the risk they support.

Each classification of collateral is considered for calculating the amount of loan coverage based on a schedule table No. 5 established in the REA and its modifications.

Collaterals are measured at fair value, that is, at their net realizable value based on appraisals reports prepared by qualified and independent professionals. The appraisal report for this purpose should not be older than 18 months for personal property, excluding securities, and an aging not exceeding 24 months for real estate.

With the purposes of establishing the allowance of commercial, consumer and mortgage loans, the Bank adjusts the value of collateral by determining the portion covered and exposed, in order to establish the amount of the allowance to be recognized. In this manner, the initial classification is adjusted based on the criteria established in Matrix 6 of the REA.

Other considerations

As of December 31, 2021, the Bank has received waivers and no objections from the Central Bank of the Dominican Republic and the Superintendence of Banks to specifically recognize for and report on certain loans granted to specific sectors of the Dominican Republic economy, such as: contractors of priority works of the Dominican State, development of road network, low-cost housing construction sector, loans granted to some power generators and other operations linked to the sector, and some credits to the agricultural sector to be classified as "A", with 0 % allowance requirement and 0 % weighting in the solvency ratio calculation.

2.5.2 Allowance for interests receivable

The allowance for current interests receivable, commercial and microenterprises is determined using specific percentages according to classification provided and considering the collateral for the related loan portfolio. The allowance for interests receivable from consumer and mortgage loans is based on specific percentages of each type based on the aging of balances established in the REA.

Interests receivable for loans with 90 days past due, except for credit card operations, are provided for at 100 %. In the case of credit card transactions, a 100 % allowance is made with 60 days past due. Such accounts are then maintained on a non-accrual basis, recognized as memorandum accounts and its interest are recognized as income only when collected.

2.5.3 Allowance for other assets

The REA establishes a maximum term for the disposal of assets received in lieu of foreclosure of loans of three years, starting 120 days from the date of adjudication of the asset, establishing a provision in accordance with the following criteria:

Movable goods: 100 % Over two years, recognized on a straight-line basis starting on the seventh month.

Real estate: 100 % Over three years, recognized on a straight-line basis starting on the thirteenth month.

The allowance on assets received in lieu of foreclosure of loans that have been sold, released and/or transferred according to the requirements of allowance in other risky assets.

The impairment on the value of assets received in lieu of foreclosure of loans is computed as the difference between book value and fair value determined by independent appraisers and provisioned when determined.

2.5.4 Allowance for contingencies

The allowance for contingent operations, which is recognized as other liabilities, relates to allowances for commercial credit lines and unused credit card balances, among others. For commercial credit lines, it is determined in conjunction with the rest of the obligations of debtors' loan portfolio, based on the risk classification of the debtor and the deductible eligible collateral for the purposes of calculating the allowance.

For unused credit card balances, debtors classified in risk categories A and B, 20 % of the balance recognized as contingency will be considered as the basis for determining the allowance, while debtors classified in the rest of the risk categories will recognize the corresponding allowance based on the 100 % balance recorded as contingency.

The nature and amounts of contingencies are described in note 28 to the consolidated financial statements.

2.6.2 Defined benefits plan

The Bank - Parent Company has a defined benefit pension plan for employees who worked at the Bank when the Social Security Law No. 87-01, which established the Social Security System of the Dominican Republic, was enacted on May 9, 2001.

The Bank's contribution to the plan is 17.5 % of the monthly salaries paid to officers and employees, as established in the statutes of the Pension Plan approved by the Board of Directors of the Bank.

The Bank's net obligation with respect to the defined benefit plans, is calculated by estimating the amount of future benefits that employees will have earned in current and previous periods, discounting that amount and deducting the fair value of plan's assets. The plan is managed under a separate equity fund.

Additionally, the Board of Directors approves certain pensions which are assumed by the Bank, to employees who do not meet the conditions to be included in the retirement and pension plan. These pensions are included in the determination of the Bank's actuarial obligation and a liability is recognized.

The calculation of the defined benefit obligation is annually performed by a qualified actuary, using the projected unit credit method.

2.6.3 Defined contribution plan

The Bank makes contributions to the mandatory pension plan, according to the Social Security Law No. 87-01, previously dated May 9, 2001, which created the Social Security System of the Dominican Republic. This system operates under an individual capitalization scheme and requires that individual contributions made by the employer and employee must be managed by the Pensions Funds Administrator (AFP, per its Spanish acronyms). The contributions made by the Bank are recognized as expenses when incurred. At the retirement age, the employees will receive from the AFP the amount of their contributions and of the employer plus the accrued income on their individual capital account.

2.6.4 Severance indemnities

The Labor Code of the Dominican Republic sets forth the payment of severance indemnities to employees whose contracts have been terminated without justified cause. The Bank recognizes as expenses the amounts paid for this concept at the time of the termination of employment contracts.

2.7 Outstanding securities and subordinated debts

Outstanding securities comprises liabilities derived from the acquisition of public resources through the issuance of bonds, time certificates, and other securities issued by the Bank which are held by the public.

The Bank has subordinated debts relating to financing obtained in US dollars ($) by issuing debt securities denominated "Subordinated Debt Notes," issued in the United States of America, and subordinated debt bonds in Dominican pesos (RD$) issued in the Dominican Republic's market. The subordinated debts are initially recognized at fair value, net of transaction costs incurred, which are amortized on the straight-line method over the term of the debt.

Financial expenses resulting from interest, commissions, exchange differences and other financial charges arising from the aforementioned obligations are recognized and charged to profit or loss in the period in which they are incurred.

2.8 Valuation of different types of investments

2.8.1 Investments in securities and allowances

Investments are measured at cost less the required allowances, except for investments held as available for sale, which are recognized at fair value.

The Accounting Manual for Financial Institutions requires financial institutions to classify investments in trading, held to maturity, available-for-sale and other investment in debt instruments.

Trading investments: These are investments that entities hold, with the purpose of obtaining profits derived from the fluctuation in prices as market participants, which are listed on a stock exchange or other type of organized market. Trading investments are carried at fair value, and the changes in their values are recognized in the consolidated statements of profit or loss.

Available-for-sale investments: Includes investments held to achieve a reasonable return for their temporary surplus or investments that the Bank is willing to sell at any time and are quoted in an active or organized market. Available-for-sale investments are initially recognized at fair value and changes in fair value is recognized through equity as unrealized gains (losses) on available-for-sale investments.

Held to maturity investments: These are investments the Bank has the intent and ability to hold until maturity, are listed in an active and organized market and are recognized at amortized cost using the effective interest method. Premiums or discounts are amortized over the period of the instrument using the effective interest rate.

Other investments in debt instruments: This category includes investments acquired in debt instruments, that because of their characteristics do not qualify for inclusion in the above categories and for which there is no active market. They are recognized at amortized cost using the effective interest method.

For domestic investments in debt securities, the amount of expected losses for impairment is determined based on the criteria used for the evaluation of major commercial debtors, in accordance with the provisions of the REA. For investments in debt securities in the international market, the amount of expected losses for impairment is determined based on risk ratings assigned by the international rating firms recognized by the Superintendence of Securities of the Dominican Republic or any other internationally recognized rating firm, applying the corresponding provision percentages according to the risk categories established by the REA.

Investments in the Central Bank of the Dominican Republic, debt securities of the Ministry of Finance and instruments issued or guaranteed by the Dominican Republic State, are considered risk-free; therefore, are not subject to a provision.

Other considerations

As of December 31, 2020, the Bank maintained a waiver from the Superintendence of Banks to classify with risk category "A" and requirement of 0 % of allowance, investments held by the Bank in debt instruments of the Dominican electric sector and road network development.

The type of security or financial instrument and its amount is presented in note 6.

2.8.2 Investments in shares and allowances

Investments in shares are carried out at the lower of cost and market value. If no market exists, they are recognized at cost less impairment, in which is evaluated the quality and solvency of the issuer by using the instructions of the REA, except for investments in affiliates which are recognized using the equity method, following the authorization of the Superintendence of Banks.

Allowances for investments in shares are determined following the same criteria as for major commercial debtor's loan (see note 2.5.1).

The characteristics, constraints, nominal value, market value and number of investments in shares are presented in note 11.

From these dates forward, they are recorded in a memorandum account. Once placed in non-accrual status the interest is recognized as income only when collected.

The subsidiaries Seguros Reservas, S. A., Fiduciaria Reservas, S. A., Administradora de Riesgos de Salud Reservas, Inc., Inversiones & Reservas, S. A. and Sociedad Administradora de Fondos de Inversión Reservas, S. A., recognize a right-of-use asset and a lease liability at the lease commencement date.

The right-of-use asset is initially measured at cost, which comprises the initial amount of the lease liability adjusted for any lease payments made at or before the commencement date, plus any initial direct costs incurred and an estimate of costs to dismantle and remove the underlying asset or to restore the underlying asset or the site on which it is located, less any lease incentives received.

The right-of-use asset is subsequently depreciated using the straight-line method from the commencement date to the end of the lease term, unless the lease transfers ownership of the underlying asset to the subsidiaries Seguros Reservas, S. A., Fiduciaria Reservas, S. A., Administradora de Riesgos de Salud Reservas, Inc., Inversiones & Reservas, S. A. and Sociedad Administradora de Fondos de Inversión Reservas, S. A., by the end of the lease term or the cost of the right-of-use asset reflects that they will exercise a purchase option. In that case the right-of-use asset will be depreciated over the useful life of the underlying asset, which is determined on the same basis as those of property and equipment. In addition, the right-of-use asset is periodically reduced by impairment losses, if any, and adjusted for certain remeasurements of the lease liability.

The lease liability is initially measured at the present value of the lease payments that not paid at the commencement date, discounted using the incremental borrowing interest rate of the subsidiaries Seguros Reservas, S. A., Fiduciaria Reservas, S. A., Administradora de Riesgos de Salud Reservas, Inc., Inversiones & Reservas, S. A. and Sociedad Administradora de Fondos de Inversión Reservas, S. A. Generally, their incremental interest rate as a discount rate.

The subsidiaries Seguros Reservas, S. A., Fiduciaria Reservas, S. A., Administradora de Riesgos de Salud Reservas, Inc., Inversiones & Reservas, S. A. and Sociedad Administradora de Fondos de Inversión Reservas, S. A., determine their incremental interest rate by obtaining interest rates from various external financing sources and make certain adjustments to reflect the terms of the lease and type of the leased asset.

Lease payments included in the measurement of lease liability comprise fixed payments, including fixed payments in substance. If it exists, the following are included:

Variable lease payments, which are dependent on an index or rate, initially measured using the index or rate as the commencement date.

The amount expected to be paid under a residual value guarantee.

The exercise price under a purchase option that the subsidiaries Seguros Reservas, S. A., Fiduciaria Reservas, S. A., Administradora de Riesgos de Salud Reservas, Inc., Inversiones & Reservas, S. A. and Sociedad Administradora de Fondos de Inversión Reservas, S. A. are reasonably certain to exercise, lease payments in an optional renewal period, if the they are reasonably certain to exercise an extension option, and penalties for early termination of a lease, unless they are reasonably certain not to terminate early.

The lease liability is measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method. It is remeasured when there is a change in future lease payments arising from a change in a rate, if there is a change in the Bank's estimate of the amount expected to be payable under a residual value guarantee, if the Bank changes its assessment of whether it will exercise a purchase, extension or termination option or if there is a revised in-substance fixed lease payment.

When the lease liability is remeasured in this way, a corresponding adjustment is made to the carrying amount of the right-of-use asset, or is recognized in profit or loss if the carrying amount of the right-of-use asset has been reduced to zero.

The subsidiaries Seguros Reservas, S. A., Fiduciaria Reservas, S. A., Administradora de Riesgos de Salud Reservas, Inc., Inversiones & Reservas, S. A. and Sociedad Administradora de Fondos de Inversión Reservas, S. A. present right-of-use assets that do not meet the definition of investment property in property, plant and equipment and lease liabilities in other liabilities in the consolidated balance sheets.

Short-term leases and leases of low-value assets

The subsidiaries Seguros Reservas, S. A., Fiduciaria Reservas, S. A., Administradora de Riesgos de Salud Reservas, Inc., Inversiones & Reservas, S. A. and Sociedad Administradora de Fondos de Inversión Reservas, S. A. have elected not to recognize right-of-use assets and lease liabilities for leases of low-value assets and short-term leases. They recognize the lease payments associated with these leases as an expense on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

The assets held in leases by the subsidiaries Seguros Reservas, S. A., Fiduciaria Reservas, S. A., Administradora de Riesgos de Salud Reservas, Inc., Inversiones & Reservas, S. A. and Sociedad Administradora de Fondos de Inversión Reservas, S. A. were classified as operating leases and were not recognized in the consolidated balance sheets.

Payments made under operating leases were recognized in the consolidated statements of income on a straight-line basis over the term of the lease. Lease incentives received were recognized as an integral part of the total lease expense over the term of the lease.

2.15 Provisions

Except as indicated in note 2.5, the Bank recognizes a provision if, as a result of a past event, it has a present legal or constructive obligation that can be estimated reliably, and it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation.

2.16 Income tax

According to its Organic Law, Banco de Reservas de la República Dominicana, Banco de Servicios Múltiples, is exempt from income tax payment; however, the Bank calculates and voluntarely pays income tax following some guidelines and special criteria of the Tax Code, considering that the final beneficiary is also the Dominican Government.

Furthermore, the Bank considers the tax effects in transactions during the year they are included in profit or loss for tax purposes.

In accordance with Law No. 8-90 and Resolution No. 08-15-PPO-P of the National Council of free zones, the subsidiary Operadora de Zonas Francas Villa Esperanza, S. A. is exempt from payment of import tax, customs duties, income tax, and other related taxes, for a period of 15 years until 2030. The remaining subsidiaries of the Bank are subject to payment of income tax, for which, the tax effects of the transactions are recognized in the year in which they occurred, regardless of when they are recognized for tax purposes.

Total expense resulting from income tax payment is recognized in the consolidated statement of profit or loss.

Deferred income tax is not recognized because the Bank's management cannot guarantee that items that originated them may be deductible in the future.

In the case of other companies included in consolidation, deferred taxes are recognized for the expected tax consequences of temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities and the amounts used for tax purposes.

Deferred tax assets in respect of temporary differences are recognized to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profits will be available against which they can be utilized. Deferred tax assets are reviewed at each reporting date and are reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that the related tax benefit will be realized; this reduction shall be reversed to the extent it becomes probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available.

Deferred tax is measured at the tax rates that are expected to be applied to temporary differences in the period they are reversed, based on the laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the consolidated balance sheet.

2.17 Financial instruments

A financial instrument is defined as cash, evidence of ownership or interest in an entity, or a contract that creates a contractual obligation or right to pay or receive cash or another financial instrument from a second entity in terms potentially favorable to the first entity.

The estimated fair market values of the financial instruments of the Bank, carrying amounts and methodologies used to estimate them are described below:

Short-term financial instruments

The carrying amounts of short-term financial instruments, for both assets and liabilities, are similar to its book value as reflected in the Bank's consolidated balance sheet, because of the relatively short-term period of time between the origination of the instruments and their subsequent realization.

Investment in securities and shares

The fair value of investments in securities classified as other investments in debt instruments and in shares, are estimated based on the adjusted carrying value net of impairment, which are determined according to the guidelines issued by the Superintendence of Banks, since there is no active security market in the Dominican Republic that can provide market values.

Investments classified as available for sale are measured at fair value, which is determined by comparison considering current or recent quoted prices for similar instruments in the organized market. The gain and/or loss generated by changes in its fair value are recognized as unrealized gain or loss in equity. Interest income calculated under the effective interest method, foreign currency translation gains and losses and impairment are recognized in profit or loss.

At the time of derecognition, accumulated gains and losses in equity are reclassified to profit or loss.

Outstanding securities

It was not possible to estimate the market value of outstanding securities because there is no active market for these instruments in the Dominican Republic.

Loan portfolio

The loan portfolio is measured at book value, adjusted for loan loss allowance as established by the regulatory authorities. Loans are segregated by type such as commercial, residential mortgage, consumer and credit cards.

2.18 Derecognition of financial assets

Financial assets are derecognized when the Bank loses control and all contractual rights of the assets. This occurs when the rights are sold, expire or are transferred.

2.19 Impairment of assets

The Bank reviews all long-lived assets and identified intangibles to determine if events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amounts of these assets will be recovered from operations.

The recoverable amount of an asset maintained and used in operations, is measured by comparing the carrying amount of the assets with the higher of the market value and the net discounted expected cash flows to be generated by that asset in the future. If, after making such comparison, it is determined that the assets values have been negatively affected, the amount to be recognized as a loss will be the excess of the carrying amount over the fair value of the asset and such loss is recognized in net profit of the year when determined.

2.20 Contingencies

The Bank considers as contingent obligations those operations in which it has assumed credit risks and which, depending on future events, may become direct obligations of the Bank with third parties.

2.21 Accounts receivable

Accounts receivable are measured at amortized cost, net of any impairment loss. The allowance for doubtful accounts is recognized through a charge to expense account for losses resulting from doubtful accounts. These receivables are charged to earnings when management determines that collectability is doubtful based on installments made, client's payment history and evaluation of collaterals, if they exist.

- The distributable dividends may not exceed the difference between the profits obtained and the allowances to be deferred.

2.23 Revaluation surplus

Revaluation surplus is the difference between the value appraised by independent appraisers and the carrying amount of land and buildings at the time of revaluation, net of the corresponding depreciation.

2.24 Mathematical and technical reserves - life insurance and collective insurance

The insurance subsidiary Seguros Reservas, S. A. (the Company) determines the mathematical and technical reserves on the basis of net premiums and considers mortality tables and interest used by the company, and consist of the amount equivalent to the difference between the present value of the company's obligation towards the insured and the present value of the insured obligations towards the company, which is determined based on actuarial calculations. Resolutions 293-09 and 294-09, changed the basis for calculating these provisions, considering the indexed salary which should be determined in accordance with changes in the consumer price index reported by the Central Bank of the Dominican Republic, when the application of this basis results in a lower amount, the original basis of calculation should be maintained. Reserves for outstanding casualty claims regarding disability and survivorship should amount to 45 % of the estimated actuarial reserve.

2.25 Reserves for unearned insurance premiums, commissions on unearned reinsurance premiums and unearned commissions on ceded reinsurance premiums

35 Risk assessment

The Bank's credit risk management included the continuity of measures aimed at supporting debtors with the aim of reducing the impact of impairment in the loan portfolio as a result of COVID-19 pandemic. For the design of these strategies, an internal segmentation scheme was implemented whose main inputs are the payment behavior of debtors and their financial information and economic sector. For 2021, different strategies were maintained to continue managing the credit risk of the loan portfolio.

Considering the concentration of risks by economic activity, 45 % of the loan portfolio is represented by consumer and mortgage loans, segregated into a high number of debtors, so they do not constitute an individual concentration. The commercial portfolio is diversified in different sectors of the Dominican economy, so there is no concentration of risk in a specific sector. Regarding the tourism sector, one of the most affected by the pandemic, loan portfolio represents 6 % of the total private portfolio. See detail of the portfolio by economic sector in note 7 literal f).

40.1 COVID-19 impact

On March 11, 2020, the World Health Organization declared the strain of the coronavirus disease called COVID-19. In the Dominican Republic, multiple cases of this virus have been reported and in that same month, government authorities ordered the closure of most economic activities at the national level and whose gradual reopening began at the end of May. Additionally, various measures have been adopted that have impacted different economic sectors. In this sense, the Bank by instructions of the Superintendence of Banks through Circular No. 014/20, dated June 17, 2020, established several measures on flexible provisions and publication of the "Guidelines for filling out the Provisions / COVID Form", to be considered in the calculation of the solvency index. Additionally, the Bank used a set of measures aimed at reducing the impact of this situation on its debtors, which have impacted its economic activity.
